

Military Leadership for Law Enforcement

A course to introduce law enforcement officers to the Army definition of “leadership” and the Army leadership model

8:00am—5:00pm on 13 DECEMBER, 2023

104 Air Defense Lane
Camp Murray, WA 98430
(253) 512-1473

Course Goals

- (1) To understand the characteristics of an outstanding law enforcement leader
- (2) To assess the effects of bad leadership on a unit’s performance
- (3) To determine what the student can do to improve their ability to lead

Course Overview

- (1) Introduce officers to the Army definition of ‘leadership’: there will be a class discussion on how to influence people by providing direction, purpose, and motivation to accomplish the mission and develop the organization in a law enforcement environment
- (2) To work in teams to analyze the attributes of an outstanding law enforcement leader, the effects if those attributes are missing, and how the student can improve relative to these attributes
- (3) To work in teams to analyze the intellectual attributes of an outstanding law enforcement leader, the effects if those attributes are missing, and how the student can improve relative to these intellectual attributes
- (4) To work in teams to analyze the competencies of an outstanding law enforcement leader, the effects if those competencies are missing, and how the student can improve relative to these competencies

All course material and exercises will be based off of the Army’s leadership manual:
