

Job Duties/Scope of Work

Hanford Mission Integration Solutions LLC, the prime contractor to the Department of Energy (DOE) at the Hanford Nuclear Site, is currently accepting applications for Hanford Patrol's Security Police Officers (SPOs). This posting will establish a candidate list for future positions with the department.

SPOs are uniformed and federally commissioned officers whose mission is to protect special nuclear materials, classified matter, facilities, government property, and personnel employed by or contracted to the DOE. SPOs are authorized to carry firearms, make arrests, and employ force in the performance of their official duties. SPO responsibilities include responding to suspicious, unlawful or unsafe/hazardous conditions and accurately documenting events through written reports (incident reports, witness statements, daily logs, and/or formal written communications). SPOs must comply with written and verbal directives as described in Hanford Patrol Policies and Procedures. Additionally, SPOs must initially meet and maintain weapons, physical fitness, reliability, and security clearance standards prescribed by the DOE.

Basic Qualifications
