A MESSAGE FROM OUR EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Dear friends,

This year has provided the WSCJTC with the opportunity to expand on new and existing partnerships while working toward the goal of institutionalizing practices that build trust.

As we continue to grow, I welcome your input on how we come together to make Washington State the best in the nation. It takes all of us to develop training that will move us into the future of policing.

The continuation of stakeholder involvement is crucial to the success of LETCSA. In 2022, WSCJTC held a series of statutory stakeholder meetings, where we were able to collectively update the IIT best practices document. This is a great feat, and I look forward to more collaboration in the next year and beyond.

I am also so proud of the LETCSA courses rolled out in 2022. These include Effective Communication, Law Enforcement and Society: Lessons of the Holocaust, LGBTQ+ Core Competency, and The United States' Criminal Legal System: Structural Inequalities, Monetary Sanctions, Policy and Reform. Each of these classes is so important to one of the many goals of LETCSA—improving training standards by increasing cultural competence in and outside of the classroom.

I hope this annual report reminds us of all the hard work we have accomplished together. We still have plenty of work to do. However, I am so proud of what we have achieved. I look forward to continuing our partnership as we embrace the necessary work of implementing new rules and curriculum.

With appreciation,

MONICA ALEXANDER, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR
WASHINGTON STATE CRIMINAL JUSTICE TRAINING COMMISSION

Monica “ Alexander

I am so proud of what we have achieved, but we still have plenty of work to do.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

After concluding our rulemaking at the end of 2021 to modify WAC 139-12 pertaining to independent investigations into officer involved incidents, we have been able to focus on developing and improving the foundation of LETCSA. We are excited to share with you the details of our new courses being offered as well as what is to come in the following months.

With a core value of WSCJTC's being accountability, we strive to establish training standards that ensure criminal justice professionals in Washington state have the knowledge, skills, and abilities to safely and effectively serve their communities.

This annual report is an important continuation and memorial of the achievements we have accomplished at WSCJTC. Yes, much work remains to be done, however, Washington state stands as a leader in bringing together law enforcement and nonlaw enforcement community members to partner and collaborate.

At the end of the day, the implementation and execution of LETCSA takes us one step closer to fulfilling WSCJTC's vision of advancing standards of excellence within criminal justice professions so the people of Washington state live in safe and secure communities.

About WSCJTC

The Washington State Criminal Justice Training Commission was created in 1974 to establish standards and provide training to criminal justice professionals, including peace officers, local corrections officers and to certify, and when necessary de-certify, peace officers. As per RCW 43.101.020, Washington state is one of only a few states that not only establishes training standards, but also provides Basic Training for Peace Officers and Corrections Officers. This unique model ensures that every local officer has consistent and high quality training guided by 21 Governor appointed Commissioners and our state legislature. Through economies of scale, we are able to maintain a highly capable staff comprised of the best trainers in the state. Further, we are able to engage in partnerships with leading experts and researchers from across the nation, developing innovative strategies and evaluating state of the art training methodologies.

Whether you're a criminal justice professional or a member of the community we serve - we're glad you're here! It is an honor for every member of the Washington State Criminal Justice Training Commission team to establish standards and provide training that upholds the core ideals of our democracy and keeps our communities safe. We accomplish this noble mission by building a culture that institutionalizes our philosophy of serving our community as 'Guardians'.

Motto

Training the guardians of democracy.

Mission

Establish certification and training standards which are legally defensible and scientifically valid to ensure criminal justice professionals in Washington state have the knowledge and skills to safely protect the communities they serve.

Vision

Advance standards of excellence within criminal justice professions so the people of Washington state live in safe and secure communities.

Values

Leadership

We lead in certification and training through continuous evaluation, collaboration, improvement, and innovation with the goal of modeling best practices for criminal justice professionals.

Integrity

We do the right thing for the right reason with transparency and honesty.

Dignity

We demonstrate respect for each other and the communities we serve.

Accountability

We are dedicated stewards of the resources and responsibilities entrusted to us by the communities we serve.

WHAT IS LETCSA?

I-940

In May 2017, Initiative 940 (I-940) was filed with the legislature in an effort to establish higher training requirements and police accountability standards. After filing for approval, the campaign officially began gathering public support. De-Escalate Washington and the Puyallup Tribe delivered 360,000 signatures in support of I-940 to the Office of the Secretary of State after working with community organizations and gathering the support of the public. Washington voters passed the initiative in the November 2018 election. I-940 was then modified into Substitute House Bill 1064 (SHB 1064).

WAC 139-11

Following the passage of I-940 and SHB 1064, the legislation was renamed to the Law Enforcement Training and Community Safety Act. WSCJTC staff worked with named statutory stakeholders to create and adopt rules for new officer training requirements which were codified into WAC 139-11. The intent of the people by enacting this act is to make our communities safer. This is accomplished by requiring law enforcement officers to obtain violence de-escalation and mental health training, so that officers will have greater skills to resolve conflicts without the use of physical or deadly force.

WAC 139-12

In 2015, the U.S. Department of Justice issued a final report from the 21st Century Task Force on Policing. The report recommended clear and comprehensive policies on the use of force; training on the importance of de-escalation, crisis intervention and mental health; the provision of first aid; and recommended external and independent investigations in officer involved shootings resulting in injury or death. I-940 and SHB 1064 incorporated those recommendations and WAC 139-12 implements the requirement of an independent investigation that is completely independent of the involved agency. The goal of this requirement is to enhance accountability and increase trust to improve the legitimacy of policing for an increase in safety for everyone.

LETCSA Staff

After the adoption of WAC 139-11 in 2019, the training requirements for LETCSA were solidified. The distribution of LETCSA training is spread amongst different training divisions. Below is a list of the staff that have created and collaborated on delivering LETCSA training for WSCJTC. Contact information for the named individuals may be found on our website.

Basic Training

The Basic Law Enforcement Academy is Washington's mandated training academy for all city and county entry-level and lateral peace officers in the state. Through a centralized training model, Washington ensures all officers are equipped with the same base-level understanding of their responsibility to the communities they serve, standards to uphold, and education for effective community-oriented policing.

MISSION

The mission of the Basic Training Division (BTD) is to provide exceptional basic training to law enforcement, corrections personnel, and certified tribal peace officers employed in Washington state, so they are fully prepared and equipped to serve their communities.

BLEA graduates

Number of BLEA sessions

In 2022, WSCJTC hosted 22 BLEA sessions; 20 sessions were hosted at the Burien campus and the other two sessions were hosted at the Spokane campus. With the upcoming expansion of regional academies, WSCJTC will be opening a new training campus in the Tri-Cities where an additional two BLEA sessions will be offered for a total of 24 sessions in 2023.

CURRICULUM REDEVELOPMENT

In early fall of 2022, the Basic Training Division began an aggressive curriculum redevelopment project in anticipation of the additional regional academy opening in the Tri-Cities. Through a collaborative effort, stakeholder agencies from across the state sent subject matter experts to assist and partner with WSCJTC on this project. Several “workshops” were held at the Burien campus during the month of December to review and enhance the existing curriculum to better meet the LETCSA mandates. Emphasis is being placed on more rigorous testing and measurement of recruit performance, beyond just an academic level. The evaluation process will integrate base skills more seamlessly with cognitive thinking and decision making, highlighting any students who may be struggling with emotional maturity or self-awareness.

ACCREDITATION

The BLEA curriculum redevelopment is being completed in anticipation of WSCJTC accreditation through the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies (CALEA), and certification through the International Association of Directors for Law Enforcement Standards and Training (IADELST).

Advanced Training

Per WAC 139-11-040 (4) LETCSA training for incumbent officers will be developed by WSCJTC staff in partnership with subject matter experts from across the state in various disciplines. The Advanced Training Division at WSCJTC oversees 16 of the 40 LETCSA training hours for existing officers. In 2022, there were 9.5 advanced LETCSA training hours released. The data below was collected on December 27, 2022. As of January 3, 2023, there were 10,150 peace officers in Washington state.

Upcoming Courses in ATD

International Visitors and Students: Global Experience with Local Impact

Upon completion of this course, officers will be able to better identify and interact with international visitors and recent arrivals to the U.S. by enhancing their understanding of the diversity of past experiences and expectations that international visitors bring in their interactions with Washington state law enforcement.

Understanding the Diversity and Complexity of Our Asian American Communities

This course will provide an overview of the diversity and complexity of Asian American communities in Washington state and the U.S. Concepts including cultural humility. Concepts, such as self-awareness, relevant to law enforcement officers will be emphasized to promote positive and respectful interactions with Asians and Asian Americans.

People First: Awareness, Challenges, & Response to Poverty & Recidivism

The goal of this course is to introduce concepts and challenges relating to recidivism and people experiencing homelessness so that officers continue to develop knowledge and understanding towards these individuals. After completing this course officers will be able to summarize best practices of law enforcement responses to people experiencing poverty and homelessness and how they can better serve these individuals

Introduction to Tribal Sovereignty, Cultures, and Traditions

The United States is home to over 500 different Indigenous nations, each of them with unique culture, history, and contemporary issues. Upon completion of this course students will be able to demonstrate competency and understanding regarding the history and their ongoing role in relationships with Indigenous people and their expressions of identity and heritage.

Introduction to the Historical Intersection of Race and Police

In order to facilitate successful interactions with Black Americans in their community, students will learn about the generational trauma that impacts the experience of Black Americans in U.S. society. Fundamental concepts and principles of race and policing are taught to better understand perceptions, challenges, and relationships between law enforcement and Black Americans through lecture, self-reflection, and videos.

Understanding Gender Diversity: Challenges, Context, and Communication

Officers will develop an understanding of the impact of cultural and social gender expectations, the barriers and challenges faced by gender-diverse peoples within our societal systems, and the historical context surrounding individuals with varying gender identities and their relationship to law enforcement. This training will provide officers with necessary information, terminology, and tools to ensure that all members of their community are treated with dignity and respect, regardless of their gender identity or gender expression.

Applied Skills Training

Patrol Tactics In-Service

Patrol Tactics In-Service fulfills 24 of the mandated 40 hours of LETCSA training and is delivered by regional instructors statewide. These instructors are certified through a train-the-trainer course offered by WSJCTC. The training provides officers with the knowledge and skills associated with distance management and use of shielding when feasible. A key component for the course is teaching tactics to decrease the likelihood of officers needing to use physical or deadly force.

Officers Trained in 2022

Instructors: 127

Officers: 1,259

Total: 1,386

The Year In Review

In 2022, ASTD LETCSA staff hosted five Patrol Tactics Instructor sessions in Burien, Bellingham, Spokane, Seattle, and Yakima. As a result, WSCJTC certified 127 new Patrol Tactics In-Service instructors. Additionally, WSCJTC hosted three 24-hour Patrol Tactics In-Service trainings and provided the Patrol Tactics In-Service training for four equivalency academies.

Once an officer is certified to teach the PTIS course, they are able to host regional sessions for their agency. There were 90 PTIS trainings in 2022 which resulted in 1,259 peace officers completing the course.

What's Next?

In 2023, four PTIS train-the-trainer sessions will be conducted with two trainings on the westside and two on the eastside of the state. With these courses and the establishment of regional hubs, the number of instructors will significantly increase. The instructor recertification course will be held for the first time in 2023. The curriculum will include critical situations that primarily involve a person in crisis armed with a knife or edged weapon. Stakeholder involvement and input is critical to the success of the continued development of these courses.

Conclusion

We've met with stakeholders both law enforcement and community members who have seen this course at every level. Their feedback has been resoundingly positive. It is inspiring to know we are training officers to meet the needs of law enforcement and the public while establishing and maintaining high standards.

IIT Updates

What's new this year?

At a glance

- IIT rosters on WSCJTC website
- New continued training attestation
- Best practices edits
- Standardized training for non-law enforcement representatives
- New qualified lead investigator application process

WAC 139-12 Implementation

Several new program elements for IITs were implemented throughout 2022; a few are still in progress. IIT rosters were collected and posted on the WSCJTC website. LETCSA staff periodically check in with IIT leadership to ensure that the most recent version of the roster is available. IIT commanders also provide updated rosters if available. WSCJTC staff have been working on the annual review of the best practices that IITs are required to follow per WAC 139-12. Recommendations were solicited from both law enforcement and nonlaw enforcement stakeholders for edits to the best practices. The Commission reviewed the recommended edits during their meetings in October and December. A subcommittee was established to finalize the edits and the best practices document is expected to be adopted at the beginning of 2023. Standardized training for the IIT nonlaw enforcement representatives will be available at the beginning of 2023. This training contains high-level information and will also be reviewed by stakeholders before it is made available. The training topics include relevant laws & regulations, basics of a crime scene & independent investigation, and the role of the nonlaw enforcement representative during an independent investigation. The criminal penalty for violating the confidentiality agreement was removed during the rulemaking process in 2021 and the form reflects that change as well.

IIT Qualified Lead Investigator Updates

At the end of 2022, the process to apply for IIT qualified lead investigator certification was moved to an online webform through WSCJTC's database, Acadis. The process for the continued training for IIT qualified lead investigators was established in 2022. IIT qualified lead investigators must take eight hours of advanced training topics listed in WAC 139-12 in order to maintain their lead investigator certification. The process involves an attestation from the IIT lead commander for both lead investigators and the IIT training as a unit which is a requirement of WAC 139-12.

Looking Forward

The new year will see various updates to the IIT program at WSCJTC. This will include new processes, continued stakeholder input, and constant communication as information is made available. The involvement of WSCJTC's stakeholders is paramount to the success of LETCSA and is profoundly appreciated.

Waivers for Training

WAC 139-11-050(c) states that WSCJTC will include "waivers granted to agencies requesting credit for training that meets the requirements of WAC 139-11-030," in this annual report.

At the time this report was released, no waivers, extensions, or variances have been requested by law enforcement agencies for LETCSA credit.

In April 2022, WSCJTC adopted a policy regarding the process for requesting a waiver, extension, or variance for LETCSA trainings. The policy is available on our website.

LETCSA Trainers

After the adoption of WAC 139-11 in 2019, the training requirements for LETCSA were solidified. The distribution of LETCSA training for incumbent officers is spread amongst different training divisions. Per WAC 139-11-050, WSCJTC will provide "biographies of trainers delivering training on topics identified in WAC 139-11-020."
