Use of Force Rules of Engagement

Lessons Learned from Recent Events Fall Outs from Chauvin Riot and Others

Trainer: Imran Ali, Senior Director of Training, Consulting, and Investigation Services at LETAC (Law Enforcement Training and Consulting) See Bio on LinkedIn

Integrity. Honor. Community.

Today law enforcement is evolving rapidly, as police face new threats and challenges, along with increased scrutiny from the public and the media. The law enforcement profession is experiencing significant changes, requiring a deeper understanding of the connection between education and enforcement.

At the 2023 WASPC Convention Mr. Ali presented this group with a similar presentation, with great praise from the attendees. As one of the attendees I departed this training with a new understanding and hope for the future of our profession. Law Enforcement has been impacted greatly by Use of Force legislation across the country, which has had a huge impact on our front-line officers. Mr. Ali is a dynamic engaging speaker with a wealth of knowledge and experience to draw from. His firsthand experience with the circumstances in Minnesota during the time of the Derek Chauvin case, as well as being the first prosecuting attorney assigned to the Officer Kim Potter case. Even though Mr. Ali touches on Washington Use of Force law, his message is a great one for officers in all states.

Imran Ali, Presenter:

Imran Ali is a shareholder with Eckberg Lammers and the Senior Director of Training, Consulting, and Investigation Services. Imran has been a trial attorney in the public sector for almost 20 years. His extensive experience is recognized both in the courtroom and the community. Working extensively with victims of crime has provided Imran with the passion needed to succeed in the courtroom. He has handled some of the most complex cases, including homicide, rape, domestic violence, narcotics related and burglary cases. In 2014, he spearheaded the East Metro Human Trafficking Taskforce – one of the first trafficking task forces in the state of Minnesota. Imran has prosecuted national and international sex trafficking rings, trained, and presented thousands of officers and prosecutors, helped draft legislation, and testified for stiffer penalties for sex trafficking offenders. Imran has spent much of his career engaging those employed within the criminal justice profession. From training new judges in the State of Minnesota at the University of Minnesota law school, to teaching law students at the Mitchell Hamline Law School, Imran enjoys engaging individuals as they chart their career path. Through this he has had the opportunity to train many law enforcement professionals and prosecutors nationally. As the Senior Director of Law Enforcement Education and Training program he empowers participants in serving their communities with honor and integrity while being equipped with the appropriate tools in decision making. Imran is nationally and locally recognized for his work, receiving the Minnesota Attorney of the Year in both 2016 and 2020. He has also received other accolades within the state and area communities.
